

Project led by Mike Baugh

Whither Weather

Contemplate the weather
Read, hear, and watch hot material
Write cool stuff

From the very beginnings of literature, climate has served as a key motif – just think of the great flood in the Epic of Gilgamesh, the Old Testament, and countless creation myths.

In this ŠvP project, we'll look at some stories, poems, songs, and films that feature weather prominently. Inspired by these works and the weather itself, we'll try our hand at writing our own climate-heavy pieces.

Possible works to examine:

Sorcerer, William Friedkin
The Lover, Marguerite Duras
To Build a Fire, Jack London
Another February, Local H
Anything you want to bring in and discuss

What Is Required:

Sense of humor
Some pens
Paper notebook
The project will be conducted in English.
If you can read this poster, you'll be fine.
